

There is a law that runs through all life, and this law has created all that is today.

Understanding this law can change a weedy garden into a fruitful blooming one.

We build our gardens with our thoughts and all that is attract into it.

Our unseen thoughts is the real creator of what we see

This law of thought works because all thoughts that we embrace are prayers and all prayers or answered, not some but all.

Understanding I am not a blooming garden, I am as a blooming garden, is the master key to creation.
